It is believed that there are troops enough at Fort Bayard to deal with these Indians, and General Pope telegraphs that they are all out after them. The hostiles are said to be from Muscalero agency under Chiefs Victoria and Nama. On the 4th inst. they attacked a herd of Captain Hooker's, at Pjacalienle, and killed the herdsmen and drove off thirty horses and some mules, and it was in pursuit of the band by troops after this outrage that the fight occurred.

A Book With a History.

Charlotte Observer.

Major S. Watson Reid, of this county, brought to the Observer office a copy of Johnson's "Dictionary of the English Language," printed in London in 1770. It was purchased by Major Reid at an auction in 1866, with a lot of other old books. The book itself is valued by him as a historical relic, but more especially because it was once the property of J. McKnitt Alexander, the secretary of the meeting which made the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. On the title page is "J. McK. Alexander," while on the inside of one of the backs is inscribed "For William B. Alexander, March 25, 1800 by J. McK. Alexander," written in a hand-writing corresponds exactly with that in which Mr. Alexander's name appears appended to the copy of the Mecklenburg Declaration now extant. The writing is perfectly legible, and the book is in a first-rate state of preservation.

THE SUPREME COURT.

IMPORTANT POLITICAL CASES TO BE DECIDED.

The Justices Arriving for the Coming Session---The International Currency Question.

WASHINGTON, September 18—The annual term of the Supreme Court of the United States commences on the 13th of October. Mr. Justice Miller and Mr. Justice Strong are already in the city. The first day the court will merely meet and adjourn, and then pay respects to the President. On the second day the docket will be called, beginning with number one. There are 821 cases on the docket. On the same day, by special assignment, there will be taken up for hearing the celebrated Virginia case, involving the rights of colored men to be tried by juries of their own color. As is known, this case presents most important features, involving the constitutionality of the reconstruction legislation of Congress. There will be quite an array of legal talent in the case, as among those who will argue it will be the Attorney-General of the United States and the Attorney-General of Virginia.

Mr. Justice Strong has set for a hearing on the same day before the full bench the case of the Ohio election judge, involving the constitutionality of the election laws of Congress. The record in this case has just been received at the office of the clerk of the Supreme Court. It will be necessary for the counsel in this case to move in open court that it be placed on the docket. When the motion is made it is understood that it will be accompanied by another motion to adjourn the case and set an early day for the hearing, as otherwise it could not be reached during the next term. As has been stated, Chief Justice Waite has also set the 14th day of October for the hearing of habeas corpus cases of the Maryland election judges. It may be that the chief justice will also desire to hear the Maryland cases in conjunction with his associates, although he has not, so far as is known here, given any intimation to that effect. At all events there is now the prospect that before the ensuing term of the court has terminated there will be an authoritative decision as to the validity of most if not all of the reconstruction legislation which sits so heavily on a large portion of the country, and which it is no longer concealed works only for the benefit of party, and not for the whole people.

The progress of the three cases above referred to will therefore be watched with much interest all over the country. It has been an open secret that the Supreme Court has avoided, as far as was possible, rendering opinions on the political legislation of Congress, but the members of that tribunal have at last doubtless realized that the point must be met, sooner or later. It is better that the question should be disposed of at this time, and in advance of the next Presidential election, as it will remove the source of unbounded dissension and bitterness. The Virginia case, by reason of the attitude of Judge Rives, of the United States District Court, embraces points of vast magnitude, including the right of the Federal judiciary not only to imprison State Judges for carrying out State laws, but also the Governors of the States for executing the laws, and members of the Legislature for voting for those laws.

WASHINGTON, September 16.—The following statement shows the difference in the amount of internal revenue collected during the month of July, 1879, as compared with the collections made during the same month in the year 1878: From spirits of all classes the total amount collected in 1878 was $3,540,694.78, and in 1879 $3,974,839.77, showing an increase of $434,144.99; from tobacco in 1878 there were collected $3,899,078.23, and in 1879 $3,139,200.82, showing a decrease of $759,877.41; from fermented liquors during 1878 there were collected $1,156,303.89, and in 1879 $1,257,173.76, showing an increase of $100,869.87; from banks and bankers in the year 1878 there were collected $813,459.35, in 1879 $729,501.11, showing a decrease of $83,958.24. The aggregate receipts during July, 1878, are shown to be $10,003,601.05, and in 1879 $9,683,831.50, showing a decrease for the present year of $319,184.55. The aggregate receipts from all sources up to and including today shows an increase of $72,000 over a corresponding period of last year.

THE SECREST CASE.

Claim that the Defendant is Insane--The Next Step in the Case.

Charlotte Observer, 18th.

The case of Hoke C. Secrest, who is charged with having killed his wife and step-child in January, 1878, will come on, as has already been stated, at McDowell Court, which convenes at Marion next week. The case, however, will not be tried at that time. His counsel, as foreshadowed some time ago, now claim that he is insane, and with this suggestion made it will be the duty of the presiding judge (Judge Schenck), under Battle's Revisal, chapter 57, section 9, to empanel a jury to pass upon the issue. If he is found to be insane, it is the duty of the judge to confine him in the asylum or jail until he becomes sane, if ever, and then have him tried. If he is found sane by the jury, then, as we are reliably informed, by the consent of the State and the defense it is agreed to remove the case to McDowell county, every citizen of the county it is alleged having expressed an opinion.

News as to the finding of the jury de lunatico inquirendo will be awaited by the public with a great deal of interest. The case of Secrest has come to be "a celebrated case," and the interest in it is not confined to any one section of the State, but is general.

The Banner "Moonshiners" County.

Washington Star.

Stanly county, North Carolina, is the worst county in that State for illicit distilling. The woods are full of "moonshiners," who are armed and have a habit of making it decidedly unpleasant for any revenue officer who may attempt to put down free whisky and plenty of it. A week or two ago a drummer from Charlotte put in an appearance in the county. The "moonshiners" captured him for a revenue officer, and were about to swing him up despite his explanations that he was only a drummer. They had seen revenue officers go round disguised as drummers before, they said. They were finally convinced, however, that their prisoner was what he represented himself to be and allowed him to depart. He left the county. Of late the "moonshiners" have become very defiant and open in the prosecution of their illegal business. Collector Young, whose district includes this county, has been in the city several days. He has urged Commissioner Raum to give him the necessary force to make a thorough raid of the county and clean out the illicit distillers. Mr. Raum has consented, and the collector will organize a fight against them which will put a stop to the business, if by any means that result can be effected.

The Soldiers' Claim.

Washington Post.

The disposition made of the funds of the Soldiers' Home, is this District, is very likely to receive the early attention of Congress. The right to expend the pensions of the disabled veterans in beautifying a park for the use of citizens and strangers will be thoroughly inquired into. We have no doubt that Congress will see to it that the disabled regulars will be placed on the same terms as the volunteers in the matter of homes and pensions. Meantime Mr. Devens will do well to look over the ground again in order to see if there is any legal impediment to dealing justly by these old soldiers.

Harbor Island Light House.

New Berne Nutshell, 17th.

General O. E. Babcock, the Light House Engineer, arrived in our city on Saturday night last, and immediately left on the revenue cutter E. A. Stevens for Harbor Island Light House, to investigate and report the amount of damage sustained by this station during the late terrible gale. Having completed his investigation, he left this city for Washington, D. C., Monday morning last. It is understood that this light station has sustained less damage than at first supposed, and will require a very small expenditure of money to repair it. In fact the storm has so driven the piles upon which the house is built into the sand, as to make a perfectly solid foundation, which it lacked before.

Of Doubtful Utility.

Tarboro Southerner.

In shunning Scylla, Governor, beware of Charybdis. The popularity that may be made by the general cry, "let offenders suffer," will be of doubtful utility with those who understand the subject and nature and cause of pardons. When the legislature meets (if it can be done—we haven't examined,) we will fall into line with the Wilmington Star and call aloud for a "Board of Pardons." The one man power is dangerous under all circumstances.

Postmaster Arrested.

Atlanta Constitution, 18th.

By a telegram to Captain John Frey, chief special agent of the Atlanta division, we learn of the arrest on the 17th instant, by a special attached to this division, of James B. Young, postmaster, and William J. Young, assistant postmaster, at Cameron, North Carolina, on a charge of detaining and rifling a registered letter. The accused were taken before a magistrate who, after a hearing of the case, required them to give bail in the sum of $500 each for their appearance at the ensuing term of the United States court, of the Western District of North Carolina.

Somewhat Anxious.

Mobile Register.

We shall watch Colonel Harper's course with much interest, for though we deprecate the manner in which he has invaded peaceful communities, we are anxious to see whether his utterances on the rostrum will be as fragmentary and sensational as the senseless editorials of the States.

Much Nominated.

Washington Post, 17th.

Butler has already been placed in the field by one convention. To-day he will receive the indorsement of a second, to-morrow of a third. On the 7th of October the regular Democratic convention will meet in Boston, and the result will be a third nomination. Then the canvass will begin.

Alamance Agricultural Fair.

Alamance Agricultural Society will hold its 4th Annual Fair at the Fair grounds, near Alamance church, six miles southeast of Greensboro, on Thursday, October 9th, 1879.

A WRONG VERSION.

SENATOR VANCE WRONGLY REPORTED IN THE "WORLD."

The Exact Words the Senator Used--The Ingalls Investigating Committee--Pomeroy's Desire.

Correspondence of the News.

WASHINGTON, September 17.—I have Senator Vance's direct authority for saying that he is incorrectly reported in a recent number of the New York World.

He never said to that paper's "interviewer" or to any body else that Mr. Tilden has been guilty of "trickery" and certain "mean transactions"; but did say that certain "dark and devious transactions" were charged upon him which it might be difficult for his supporters and advocates to satisfactorily explain; that while believing some other candidate, as the outlook now is, would be more acceptable to North Carolina and the South—there would be no "bolting," should the National Convention give Mr. Tilden the nomination again for the position which is now by right his, though usurped and held by another.

The general tenor of Senator Vance's remarks, as reported, is fairly accurate; except so far as "meanness and trickery" are concerned. Those words he did not use.

The Kansas-Ingalls investigating committee, of which Senator Vance is a member, is not likely to develop or unearth any new Radical roguery.

BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

have become so intimately and conspicuously connected with the political (particularly the Senatorial) history of that super-loyal and gilt-edged region of Radicalism, that "saints' delightful home" of the Pomeroys and the Caldwells, that naught else need be looked for until honest men enter the contest of State. The Post has an able editorial on the subject this morning, but omits reference to one point of import, viz: the probability that the saintly Pomeroy may not be an interested (?) spectator, so to speak, of this investigation. It is likely enough that he and honors and hopes to see Ingalls ousted and himself restored. This is a surmise of my own, based on some words of a Western gentleman whom I met to-day, and who seems posted on the political status of Kansas. If correct, where comes in the benefit of turning out Ingalls? If a bribery and corruption man must represent "bleeding Kansas" in the Senate, why the expense and trouble of this investigation? One's as good as another—"if not better"—and they are a scurvy and lousy gang altogether!

HANKERS AFTER LOST PLACE

My inquiry as to the whereabouts of Hussey in the NEWS of a week ago, has brought a response from him. He reports himself as in the sequestered dells and windy gorges of the Blue Ridge reading the Record of the extra session and studying politics. Delightful!

Weather here seductively pleasant, but I hear of numerous cases of chills and fever, and various acquaintances look dreadfully "peaked about the gills" these mornings, and one individual of whom I wot would rather be at home just now until frost comes.

The Kelly "boom" seems to be a very feeble and flimsy one in New York, and the probability is that it will end in a complete fizzle before election day. L.

Corn and Corn Shuckings.

Wilmington Review.

The splendid crops of corn on the river lowlands may now be considered as secure. The fodder has been stripped and there is no damage now from a heavy freshet. The crops there are said to be the best for years and some of the farmers estimate the yield as high as one hundred thousand bushels. In a few weeks the corn will have fully matured and been gathered and stored, and then there will be lots of good old-fashioned corn shuckings on hand, with a plentiful besprinkling of the kissable red ears in the pile.

An Invention.

Auburn (N. Y.) News.

A new feature in the construction of extension tables has been invented and patented by an Auburn boy, Mr. Austin Hayden. The device consists in doing away with the extra leaves, by means of narrow slats fastened to canvas, so arranged as to run over rollers working from the center in a receptacle below, thus forming a flexible top which can be extended at pleasure.

Declined.

Chatham Record, 16th.

Our young townsman, Mr. James S. Manning, has declined the position of Assistant Professor of Mathematics, recently tendered him by the trustees of the University. He had opened a school here, just before his election to that position, and did not think it right to desert his scholars even for so honorable a place.

The First Step.

Tarboro Southerner.

We hail with joy the constant exhibition of independence in the North Carolina press. Errors are not reformed by winking at them; virtue is not established by ignoring the presence of vice. Unbiased criticism of error, wherever found, is the first step toward correcting it.

Mixed Kinship.

Chatham Record, 18th.

There is a man in the western part of this county, who, some years ago, married the widow of his own son, and she was also his own niece. The woman has had children by both husbands. Now, what kin are they? It presents about as mixed kinship as any case on record!

Harmonious.

Washington Post.

The St. Louis Westliche Post, after the Cincinnati Commercial, the chief Admistration newspaper in the country, is now engaged in firing hot shot into Conkling's New York ticket, or the head and front of it, while Messrs. Hayes and Sherman look on the spectacle unmoved. Radical "harmony" was never more than half so harmonious as it is this fall.

A Venerable Citizen of Pender Dead.

Wilmington Review, 17th.

Mr. John F. Robitzsch, a veteran of the war of 1812, died yesterday at Asheton, in Pender county, at the advanced age of eighty-five years, having been born in 1794. The heroes of the revolution have all departed, and but a few now remain who took a part in what is familiarly known as the last war with Great Britian.

Rocking a Train.

Charlotte Observer, 18th.

A rock was thrown into the window of one of the cars on the day train which arrives here at 11:20, soon after it passed Concord yesterday morning, smashing the glass and frightening the passengers, but fortunately inflicting no injuries upon any one in the car. Conductor Dodson stopped the train and ran back to the point from which the rock was thrown. A small boy was found lurking in the bushes near by. He pretended that he did not throw at the train. Being quite young, the conductor let him off with a sound thrashing which was administered by his parents.

Donations to The North Carolina Agricultural Society.

The following are donations to the North Carolina Agricultural Society for the 19th Annual State Fair, to be held at Raleigh, October 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th next, acknowledged by C. B. Denson, secretary, in behalf of the Executive Committee:

We hope to welcome him again. Their specialties are Watt plows, castings for plows and cultivating implements.

One selection of axle grease, from the Frazier Lubricating Company, 73 Murray street, New York. This firm makes several standard brands of their useful goods, and have been represented at our fair as contributors heretofore.

One case of Merchantls Gargling Oil, assorted sizes, given by the Merchant's Gargling Oil Company, John Hodge, Secretary, Lockport, New York. This celebrated liniment has also been exhibited and donated heretofore, by this enterprising company. All the above goods and those stated in previous articles will be displayed in the Hall of Donations. Persons desirous of information can obtain circulars of the employees in attendance.

Death of Mrs. Christmas.

Yesterday afternoon's dispatches contained the following:

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A special from Norfolk, Va., says Mrs. Jane Y. Christmas, only daughter of the celebrated Mrs. Myra Clarke Gaines, of New Orleans, died yesterday morning at Warrenton, N. C., it is said of the yellow fever. She came from New Orleans about two weeks ago and brought the disease with her. She leaves three children. Mrs Gaines was with her.

It is very evident that somebody has blundered, as no symptom of yellow fever was discovered or talked about. The facts, as taken from the Warrenton Gazette, are as follows:

Mrs. Rhoda Whitney Christmas, the wife of James Y. Christmas, whose alarming illness was noticed in our last issue, died at eleven o'clock on Tuesday night, 16th inst. Her mother Mrs. General Gaines, had been telegraphed to and was with her in her last moments. Mrs. Christmas had spent the spring and summer in New Orleans, and had only been at home a few weeks when she was taken sick, and was only sick about ten days.

She was a very intelligent and accomplished lady, was a fine musician, and spoke the French language with perfect ease. She had many warm friends in this community, was much beloved and respected, and will be greatly missed by many poor persons who have been the recipients of her gifts. Mrs. Christmas was born in Delaware, but has resided in Warrenton for many years.

The funeral took place at the Episcopal church yesterday morning at ten o'clock, and the body was temporarily deposited in the Methodist church yard, to be removed to Washington some future day. The bereaved husband and children may feel assured of the tenderest sympathy of all the good people of Warrenton.

The Approaching State Fair.

The busy notes of preparation for the Fair convince us of its near approach. Under the direction of the able committee on grounds, Messrs. W. G. Upchurch and P. E. Hines, the Fair Grounds are being placed in tip-top order, wells carefully cleansed, halls white-washed, wood work repaired, etc.

Owing to the demand for space the large saloon at the south end of the grand stand was reserved by the committee on privileges, and is being prepared for an exhibition room; convenient doors will be opened and the whole converted into an attractive hall. This will be a very eligible spot for the display of carriages, close to the race-track, and where the vehicles can be inspected between the times of the trials of speed.

Many other improvements are in contemplation and everything betokens the most interesting Fair we have ever had.

Glass Ball Shooting.

A party of young gentlemen yesterday afternoon assembled at the grounds of the Raleigh Gun Club, for practice in this popular sport. They will practice every Friday afternoon until Fair week when the championship badge, now held by Mr. Ed. Englehard, will again be contested for. The following is yesterday's score:

Shot at twenty balls, twelve bore guns, eighteen yards rise; ten bore guns twenty-one yards rise; two traps ten yards apart. W. P. Batchelor, referee. Norfleet, 9; Englehard, 10; Pullen, 13; John C. Creech, 17; Morson, 12; Busbee, 10; Blake, 7; Johnson, 9.

The Ravages of Consumption.

The fearful death-roll, covering from a fourth to a third of the number in nearly every published bill of mortality, shows how vainly the medical profession is contending with this cruel enemy of our race. Every one feels that some new agent of relief and cure is the imperative demand of the age. That such an agent, acting in perfect harmony with science and the laws of physiology, has been discovered in "Compound Oxygen" we confidently declare. Some of the most brilliant cures which have been made during the past twelve years by this new treatment have been in Consumption. The amplest information will be found in our "Treatise on Compound Oxygen." It is sent free. Address Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Sept 18, '79.

ANOTHER CENTENNIAL.

THE SURRENDER OF CORNWALLIS AT YORKTOWN.

Timely Preparations for Celebrating the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Event.

Philadelphia Press.

It is a fact not generally known that the scheme for a National Centennial celebration of Lord Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown was projected in this city. The design is to follow it up on October 18th and 19th by a conference at Independence Hall, in this city, of all the governors of the thirteen original States, then and there to discuss and perfect a plan for this grand national celebration. With these thirteen governors, the executives or their delegates of the other States will be invited. It is also an essential part of the programme to have the Republic of France participate in this centennial, and the French Society of New York have eagerly responded to the suggestion of a preliminary meeting on the 18th proximo, and have offered to be present here by an influential delegation.

The whole idea is a felicitous one, and we make no question but that the plan to be shortly devised and initiated in this city will not only meet with a most cordial indorsement throughout the country, but will result in a brilliant and memorable success. On that sacred spot all can fittingly unite in commemoration of the patriotic deeds of revered ancestry in which all alike take pride, and from which have sprung glorious results.

The surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown with his gallant army of 8,000 true and tried soldiers on October 19, 1781, after a close and hotly pressed siege of about twenty days, was virtually the termination of our long and glorious struggle for independence. Lord George Germain, who was first to announce the disastrous tidings to Lord North, when asked how England's premier took the news, answered: "As he would have taken a ball in the breast, for he opened his arms, exclaiming wildly as he paced up and down his apartment, 'Oh God, it is all over!'" Yet this grand victory, decisive and momentous as it proved, to be, could never have been achieved without the close and efficient co-operation of the French fleet and land force of six thousand men procured from Louis XVI. through the earnest personal solicitations of the Marquis de La Fayette. It should also be remembered that this same La Fayette, the staunch and never-failing friend of our country, commanded the Virginia campaign against Cornwallis, down to the siege of Yorktown, with skill, prudence and vigor, paying out of his pocket for the shoes, hats and tents of his little ragged army, and it was this same La Fayette who so gallantly during the siege led a triumphant assault on one of the two redoubts from which had poured such a fatal enfilading fire on the American working parties in the trenches.

The pre-eminent propriety therefore, of a French participation in the approaching centennial is palpable to all, and it is hoped and expected that not only will a large delegation from France, and probably a ship-of-war, be present to lend eclat to the occasion, but that the living representative of the La Fayette family will himself come over to receive a fresh outburst of the thanks of our people, similar to that paid his illustrious ancestor.

The siege of Yorktown may be thus briefly summarized: So soon as it was learned that Cornwallis had established himself in Yorktown with his whole army, and was commencing to fortify that place by redoubts and batteries connected by an extensive line of entrenchments, Washington knew his decisive hour had come, and hastened to concert measures with the Count de Rochambeau. In the latter part of September the combined French and American armies effected a junction with La Fayette at Williamsburg, and on the 28th marched to the investment of Yorktown. Meantime the formidable French fleet had sailed down and occupied York river, so as to prevent all escape by water. The besieging force was 16,000 men, of whom 7,000 were French and the remainer American continentals and militia. On the 30th of September the investment of the town was completed, and on October 9th the first parallel established, and batteries opened. On the 11th the second parallel was opened, and on the night of the 14th two English redoubts were taken by French and American assaulting parties.

The position of Cornwallis had now become desperate. Cut off from reinforcements or from escape by sea, he tried a sortie in great force to relieve himself from his critical dilemma. It proved an entire failure. He next essayed the desperate plan of crossing York river to Gloucester Point and pushing northward by forced marches. His scheme was adroitly planned and skilfully begun, but a violent storm arose, scattering his boats and utterly defeating his bold project. Nothing was left but a surrender, which took place on the 18th October, 1781, the whole English army marching out in the presence of the combined French-American force and laying down their arms as prisoners of war. It furnished one of the grandest and most memorable scenes in American history.

We have had of late years a number of interesting centennial celebrations throughout the eastern portion of our country. They have all served in a remarkable degree to renew patriotism, stimulate inquiry and revive the memory of the sturdy virtues and severe trials of our ancestors. As the siege of Yorktown may be said to have terminated the Revolution, so there is a special propriety in having the celebration of the event the last and the crowning centennial of all. We feel assured should the delegates who next month meet in this city in the very cradle of a revolution which has wrought such wonders for our nation, devise wisely and make a proper presentation of their project to the country, that it will be taken up with a general enthusiasm and carried to a signal, result.

The 19th of October happens this year on Sunday. On that day—the business meeting having been held on the 18th—it is proposed that the delegates here present shall worship in the old Episcopal church in this city which Washington himself was wont to attend. Included in the scheme is, we understand, the erection of a commemorative monument—the money for which has already been pledged—a review of the fleet and an extensive sham battle; also competitive drills between the military companies of the county, a magnificent pageant conducted by all celebrants, and other interesting features. We wish the enterprise all the success that it so richly merits.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1879.

MR. JOSEPH HOWARD rattles his little Star around with all the skill of a juggler; but when he listens for the echo the silence becomes painful.

THE large increase in the cost of collecting the revenues for the fiscal year, is one of those ugly facts on which Republican papers are studiously silent.

THE Wilmington Review states of its own knowledge that the correspondent of the New York Times was correct in his version of the vacant Judgeship matter.

MR. JOSEPH HOWARD'S assertion in the New York Star that "Mr. Kelly is the Democratic nominee for Governor" is characteristic of Monsieur X. Eli Perkins never had a valid claim to the title of the "Great American Liar."

IF Blackwell, of Durham, keeps enlarging his factory at the rate he is doing now he will have to extend the limits of that town to hold him.—Greensboro Patriot.

Wonder if he couldn't be induced to include Raleigh in the scheme of annexation?

IT is Mr. Joseph Howard's bounden duty to issue a bogus proclamation withdrawing Governor Robinson from the canvass, signing it "Samuel J. Tilden." He tried it once on President Lincoln and was rewarded with summer quarters in Fort Lafayette.

THE Asheville Journal has come out flat-footed Republican, because the proprietor wants to make it a paying paper. That's the way to do it, bread and butter before politics. Now it will be in order for the Journal to "cuss" the Democratic party because Speaker Robinson didn't sign the School Bill.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S caustic letter asking to be excused from attendance at the Salisbury reunion is attracting considerable attention in the North. We find no fault with his declination, but think it might have been worded in a more courteous style. The General is master of his actions but not of his pen.

A VERY unhappy paper is the New York Tribune. It pelted away in a jocular form about the ciphers and other matters, thus keeping Mr. Tilden's name before the people until the biggest kind of a boom was started, and is now horror-struck to find out that, like Frankenstein, it can't control the monster. So much for smartness so far above the average.

THE New York Journal of Commerce, in answer to a correspondent at Salisbury, N. C., says that bonds issued by the State of North Carolina to the North Carolina Railroad Company, having coupons from January, 1869, to date, inclusive, will bring 100 in that market. This looks bad for the New York Tribune's statements that North Carolina bonds wouldn't bring over 60, and that the State would never again find creditors outside of her own limits.

THE white plume of Henry of Navarre was not a more formidable sight to the enemies of the Huguenots than the erect and unconquerable shirt collar of the gallant Spinola appears to be to the enemies of Tammany Hall.—New York Star.

If Macaulay was only living he would have a grander theme than the "Battle of Ivry" to write on. In addition to the shirt collar he should have had the silver fire trumpet presented to him by some citizens of Brooklyn a number of years ago, and which was afterward found in a pawn shop.

THE silver certificate bids fair to take the place of the standard dollar to a very great extent. In paying our 10 per cent. of checks in silver dollars the treasurer is generally faced with a demand for certificates in their stead. This is especially the case with the banks. The banks then pay them out over their counter, the same as greenbacks. In this way a large amount of silver certificates in circulation. The silver certificate is about the same size as the greenback and just as convenient, and passes readily in all quarters where it is known.

GENERAL SHERMAN has created a commotion in North Carolina by putting a large amount of his well-known common sense in a declination to attend a grand reunion of surviving Union and Confederate soldiers at Salisbury on October 3d.—New York Tribune.

The only commotion we have heard of in relation to the matter is that raised by the Tribune because some North Carolina paper wouldn't "get right up on its ear" and cover the General with abuse. The General declined the invitation, which he had a perfect right to do, and that is all there was of it.

A NEW YORK paper having credited ex-Governor Seymour with the remark that he thought both Governor Robinson and Mr. Kelly should withdraw, the Utica Observer declares the statement to be "entirely without foundation." It adds: "Governor Seymour anticipated the nomination of Governor Robinson, and he has never contemplated his withdrawal since the adjournment of the Syracuse Convention, nor made any suggestion of that nature. He has no recollection of any conversation with any one from which anything of the kind could have been inferred."

In another column is printed an article headed "The Banner 'Moonshiners' County," taken from the Washington Star. The same article appeared simultaneously in a number of other papers. To show the great reliance that can be placed on the statement we append the drummer's card:

WADESBORO, September 13, 1879.—The statement in the telegram to the New York Times and published in your paper of the 7th inst., that while traveling through Anson county I was taken for a revenue officer and arrested by the citizens, and my life threatened, is utterly false. I have never been arrested or molested in any way while traveling through this county.

Yours, &c., LINDSAY DAVIS

In fact, the correspondent of the Times himself acknowledges that he done the people of Anson injustice in making the charges he did against them.

THE ZULU WAR.

England, the mighty power, has at last achieved the signal honor of being able to stick a bantam's feather in the imperial coronet by the capture of Cetewayo, the terribly wronged King of Zululand.

There was no cause for this war; the Zulu King had been living in peaceful contiguity with England's forced possessions for years. Yet by the act of Sir Theophilus Shepstone, in making a speech at the coronation ceremonies of Cetewayo, the King was considered a suzerain to the English Queen.

English rapacity in the matter of the acquisition of land lying contiguous to her scattered dependencies has long been notorious, and the conquest of Zululand is not the first of this nature, although it may prove the last. Prior to the annexation of the Transvaal everything was moving along peacefully. To be sure there were occasional troubles between the scattered tribes dwelling in Zulu proper, and they sometimes extended to the Boers in the Transvaal, but these troubles were speedily ended.

Then came the annexation of Transvaal, a republic that was founded with a fair show of success, and which had been officially recognized in a royal proclamation. Internal dissensions had arisen, though, and England seized the opportunity to add it to her growing possessions in South Africa without the least color of right. What could the Boers do? They were not strong enough to resist, and they had to submit.

And all through this time the Zulus were following out the peaceful policy outlined by Cetewayo.

Their longing eyes were cast on the Zulu King's possessions, and the Swazies, a warlike tribe and an offshoot of the Zulu nation, was stirred up. Cetewayo mustered his forces, and the Swazies immediately retired. And, note this, when Cetewayo wanted to "wash his spears" in the Swazie blood, according to custom and tradition, he, at the request of Sir Theophilus Shepstone, England's accredited representative, refrained from carrying out the old established usage, and retired without shedding the blood of his traditional enemies.

Peace had virtually reigned for twenty-eight years; yet it was all upset by the blundering of an incompetent at the head of English affairs in South Africa, and he was removed to make room for a still more incapable personage, Sir Bartle Frere. The bloody struggles gone through with in the early part of the year are too recent to be noticed. Suffice it to say that England's disciplined troops were terribly whipped. Sir Garnet Wolseley adopted a policy more in line with the character of the enemy, and has proven successful. But his success does not alter the merits of the case in a moral light. It was a thoroughly unjustifiable war, and the English know it.

The Afghanistan war is like unto it. Of course England claims that Afghanistan is necessary to protect her Indian frontier. The move has been made, apparently successful at first, only to be as suddenly overthrown. But Afghanistan is differently situated from Zululand. The former has undoubtedly a powerful ally in Russia, while Cetewayo had to depend on his own skill and resources. Zulu is a conquered province, but Afghanistan will tax England's powers to the utmost.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The leading industry in Massachusetts just now is political State conventions. One a day is the average product.

"Republicans must go" is the Democratic watchword in every Southern State.—Indianapolis Journal. And so it is the watchword in every Northern State. The crime-steeped party of centralization, fraud and general corruption must go indeed.—Washington Post.

It is to be regretted that the Massachusetts Republicans have so far yielded to the wishes of General Butler as to put at the head of their ticket the gentleman whom he selected as his most desirable opponent. In retiring Mr. Pierce the convention has simply registered the will of Butler.

Harper's Weekly and the Evening Post are prominent and able representatives of the "anti-machine" sentiment; will our eminent and respected contemporaries—neither of which is an "organ," we observe—tell us and the public how an opponent of "machine politics" ought to vote this fall?—New York Herald.

Of course the Republican party has always been in love with our naturalized citizens, and has never disfranchised them—unless they were of Democratic proclivities. We doubt if Damon's affection for Pythias exceeded that now shown by the Radicals for our Irish Democratic population.—Washington Post.

And still that incorrigible colored man and brother sticks on the Hamilton county, Ohio, ticket. He has learned to smile at Deacon Smith's rage and face a frowning world; but he will not read his title clear to a seat in the legislature. Five thousand Republican patriots have announced their intention to scratch him.

A correspondent of the Irish World tells of Butler's visit to Kearney last year, to ask him not to oppose Ben Dean, and exclaims: "What a picture for an artist could that interview have afforded! The politician and the reformer! Craft and principle brought face to face! General Butler pleading with the San Francisco drayman till the perspiration ran in streams down his face to sacrifice convictions to political expediency! On the one side skill, cunning, and a tongue schooled in special pleading, with such support as a millionaire alone can use; on the other simply—honesty!"

When the editors of the Okolona States and the Lemars Sentinel were introduced the other day they each took three steps backward, and for some minutes glared upon each other like fierce Numidian lions. The Okolona howler was the first to find words, and said:

"What?
And is't thou?
Come, then, bastard.
Let me have at thee,
And by the gods
That roost on high Olympus
I'll eat ye up
In a holy second!
Ugh!
Big Injun me!"

The Royal Bengal Badger of the Sentinel displayed his fangs and rejoined with his native ferocity:

"I thank the gods
For this opportunity
To call thee
To thy TEETH,
Liar!
Hippograff!
Hippopotamus!
Snide!
Shyster!
And baldheaded snipe of the valley!
O, come and see me,
And I'll mop the ground
With thy miserable carcass—
Thou—thou—thou—
Three ply
And doubly died
Horse-thief,
And son of a gun!"

But the Okolona howler didn't come. A by-stander had seized the hem of his coat-tail between the tips of his thumb and finger and held him securely. So thankful was the Iowa man that things turned out as they did, that he breathed a silent prayer to heaven.

VEGETINE

For Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fever,

Or what is more commonly termed FEVER AND AGUE, with pain in the loins and through the back, and indescribable chilly sensation down the spine, an irresistible disposition to yawn pain in the eyes, which is increased by moving them, a blue tinge in the skin, and great listlessness and debility, Vegetine is a safe and positive remedy. It is compounded exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks and herbs, and so strongly concentrates that it is one of the greatest cleansers of the blood that is or can be put together. Vegetine does not stop with breaking Chills and Fever, but it extends its wonderful influence into every part of the human system, and entirely eradicates every taint of disease. Vegetine does not act as a powerful cathartic, or debilitate the bowels and cause the patient to dread other serious complaints which must inevitably follow; but it strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restores the liver and kidneys to healthy action, regulates the bowels, and assists Nature in performing all the duties that devolve upon her.

Thousands of invalids are suffering today from the effects of powerful purgative nostrums, frightful quantities of quinine, and poison doses of arsenic, neither of which ever have, or ever could, reach the true cause of their complaint.

Vegetine

works in the human system in perfect harmony with nature's laws, and while it is pleasant to the taste, genial to the stomach, and mild in its influence on the bowels, it is absolute in its action on disease, and is not a vile, nauseous Bitters, purging the invalid into false hope that they are being cured. Vegetine is a purely Vegetable Medicine, compounded upon scientific principles. It is indorsed by the best physicians where its virtues have been tested, is recommended only where medicine is needed, and is not a mixture of cheap whiskey sold under the cloak of Bitters.

GIVES HEALTH, STRENGTH, AND APPETITE.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of Vegetine. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. A few bottles of the Vegetine restored her health, strength, and appetite. N. H. TILDEN,

Vegetine.
POLICE TESTIMONY.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

Dear Sir,—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merits of Vegetine. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything to which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine, and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of debilitated or impoverished state of the blood, its effects are really wonderful; and, for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood, it appears to work like a charm; and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results; and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine.

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

A Serenade.

I sing beneath your lattice, love
A song of great regard for you;
The moon is getting rather high,
My voice is, too.

The lakelet in deep shadow lies,
Where croaking frogs make much ado,
I thing they sing a trifle hoarse;
I sing so, too.

The blossoms on the pumpkin-vine
Are weeping diamond tears of dew;
'Tis warm; the flowers are wilting fast.
My linen, too.

All motionless the cedars stand,
With silent moonbeams slanting through;
The very air is drowsy, love,
And I am, too.

Oh, could I soar on loving wings,
And at your window gently woo!
But then your lattice you would bolt—
So I'll bolt, too.

Red stockings will be worn more than ever.

The new silk stockings show corduroy effects.

Children's dresses entirely of red are revived.

False fronts are worn to greater excess than ever.

The Roman colors are sought for in striped hosiery.

Women can never play ball satisfactorily until they are permitted to use their aprons to catch with.—Buffalo Express.

Grace Greenwood says that "among its other admirable manufactures, New England produces the best-educated girls, the truest wives, the noblest mothers and the most glorious old maids in the world."

There are two little girls of the same name in New London, Connecticut. The other night one of them said her prayers, and, for fear they might be credited to the other child, she added, after them "amen," "No. 10 Orange street."—Lockport Union.

When Julia's mother expressed her surprise on discovering her daughter's maid drawing Julia's corsets to an alarming tension, she was met by the quiet response, "Oh, mother, it's only a matter of form." Well, was the rejoinder, there seems to be a great deal of red tape about it any way.—Lockport Union.

At the close of his address to Secretary Schurz at the Rosebud Agency the other day, Spotted Tail asked that paint be sent to his children so that the old men might decorate themselves. The widower of the cabinet replied, with an irony appreciated only by the officers around, that among the whites only the women painted themselves.

He had an auburn-haired girl and promised to take her out riding. She was a little sensitive about her golden locks, which were rather of a ruddy tint. She met him at the door when he drove up, and naturally surprised at the first example of punctuality on the part of a young lady in the course of his experience, he exclaimed, "Hello! Ready!" She misunderstood him and they don't speak now. Alas, how light a cause, added to an undignified manner of speaking, can everlastingly dissipate love's young dream.

Profitable.

It seems the United States Treasury pays out $51,000 a year in salaries to a set of Republican officials and ring men in Maine's custom houses, and that the total of customs collected is between $15,000 and $16,000.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

Humor on a Child

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen, My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the child ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface all the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully, JOHN L. SURRY.
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.
BOSTON, April 15, 1878.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "I am so well plensed with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommend it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin St., Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

Prickly Heat.

Incidental to the Texan Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about.
Yours truly, THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, Texas, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted, in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any these prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. The justice also issued three warrants for parties charged with f. & a.

A Correction.

In Thursdays NEWS, mention was made that Neuse River paper mills were to be sold. The reporter was in error. It is the Neuse River manufacturing Co., (a cotton mill) that is to be sold. Colonel Askew does not propose selling his paper mill at all.

Dancing School.

Professor Slater will open his dancing school in the Andrews building on Monday night at 8:30 o'clock for gents, and Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock for misses and masters. The Professor is a capital instructor in this art, and those who desire to be taught can do no better than by attending this school.

Messrs. Lawrence & Smith.

As will be seen by reference to the NEWS' advertising columns, these gentlemen represent some of the first Insurance Companies (both life and fire) of the country.

They are prepared to issue policies to all insurable persons and property, and on as favorable terms as any agents. They are clever, enterprising, popular gentlemen and do an extensive business in their line.

Change of Firm Name.

Under the head of "New Advertisements" will be found the dissolution of copartnership notice of the firm of Yeargan, Petty & Jones. Mr. Jones retires from the firm (although he will continue to act in the capacity of salesman), which will be known as Yeargan, Petty & Company. The resources of the house will not be diminished in any way, as customers will ascertain by calling and examining the new and large stock of goods that Mr. Yeargan purchased during his late visit to New York.

Messrs. Rand & Barbee Bros.

A reliable firm is what all classes of people like to deal with, and such a firm is that cited in the caption of this article. The members have been engaged in business here with one firm and another for several years and have been uniformly successful. Their present place of business is on Wilmington street, just south of Martin, where they will attend to all calls for groceries, etc. Their cotton brokerage is quite an important feature, and as they have all the facilities for handling it farmers may find it advantageous to enter into business transactions with them.

The Glass Ball Shooting at the Fair.

The public will be pleased to learn of the appointment of that veteran soldier and beloved citizen, Colonel J. McLeod Turner, to take charge of the shooting matches, four in number, to be held during the fair. We will publish the rules and particulars of the shooting to-morrow. Those interested are invited to address the Secretary of the Society promptly.

Sudden Death.

Mr. William Farrior, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Duplin county, dropped dead in his field near Kenansville, on Friday the 12th instant. The Wilmington Review learns that Mr. Farrior had been unwell for some time, but was not considered dangerously so, and his sudden demise has caused a shock of sadness among a large circle of children, relatives and friends. The deceased has filled many positions of trust and honor in that county, the most recent and notable of which was his membership of the late Constitutional Convention of North Carolina, which formed the constitution under which we now live. Mr. Farrior was about 75 years of age, and he died as he had lived, a respected citizen and an honest man, of whom it can well be said, truly a good man hath departed.

They carry the largest stock of the latest styles in the State—not only in hats and caps but clothing of all sizes and grades, which they are selling at the lowest prices in the city. Being the oldest house in their line in the place, their unusual business facilities give them an advantage not enjoyed by y ounger establishments.

"They Are All Sold!"

"I am too late for this month's drawing!" is the tenor of a complaint which is becoming very general among those who loiter and wait until the day immediately preceding the monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company which occurs invariably at New Orleans, on the second Tuesday of every month. The fact is that the integrity with which every action of this institution is characterized has so strengthened its reputation that its tickets are sold every month some days before the drawing, and therefore any one desirous of investing in this manner should suffer no time to elapse before they correspond with M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York, relative to the 113th Grand Monthly Drawing which occurs on Oct ober 14th.

The Earl of Mayfield is a new novel, by a noted author, just published by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia. It deals largely with real life and historical personages, which are treated with a master's pen, while the scenes are varied, and full of interest and instruction. The opening scenes are in the South, some of them being laid on a sugar plantation, and much food for pleasant meditation will be found in the study of the several characters portrayed, and one will watch with interest the course of the hero, Carew, through years of uncertainty, until he finally attains that happiness which he thought the fates had denied him.

The Earl of Mayfield is published in a large duodecimo volume, bound in morocco cloth, black and gold, price $1.50, and will be found for sale by all Booksellers and News Agents, and on all Rail Road Trains, or copies of it will be sent to any one, to any place at once, or any one remitting $1.50 in a letter to the Publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa.

How to Grow Fat.

Just now when so many fat people are trying to grow lean, we would suggest that it would be a good idea for the lean ones to try and grow fat. To do this keep the bowels and liver regulated with Mott's Liver Pills, and your digestion will be good, and you will grow fat rapidly.

It is asserted that the ordinary cosmetics used by ladies are productive of great mischief. We believe this is so, and that a better means of securing a beautiful complexion is to use some blood medicine like Rosadalis, the great Southern Remedy, which cleanses the blood and gives permanent beauty to the skin.

Impression.

It is generally supposed by physicians and the people generally that Dyspepsia can not invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that Green's August Flower has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, &c. Out of the 50,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Our Family Bread.

Truly, the most important adulterations to avoid are those which are calculated to injure the "staff of life." Merchants who supply their customers with pure articles like Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, retain better patrons, have a larger trade, and make more money than those who recommend cheap adulterated powders.

Front Yard Vases.

Seven pairs of Sand Stone Vases on pedestals, very cheap, with choice flowers growing in them. Come and see them at CAYTON & WOLFE'S Marble Yard.

A Card.

All who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, free of charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

Fairer than ever sprang from Eva,
While time allows the short reprieve,
Just look at me! Could you believe—
I am puffing Leopold's Maimee!"

"Through golopade I cannot swing
Th' entangling blooms of beauty's spring;
I cannot say the tender thing,
But I can smoke Leopold's Maimee!"

Weather Probabilities.

Cold, with high winds and rain. Exposure to this weather is sure to produce colds and kindred diseases; and the best remedy we know of is Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. Always keep it in the house, and you will be on the safe side.

Economy.

There is economy in buying Dr. Price's Spcial Flavoring Extracts, as they are the most natural flavors made, and in strength, quality and quantity they cannot be equaled by any flavoring extracts in the market.
